The public debt has been reduced $1,000,000 dollars during the month of June.

As Mr. Conkling has given up his rooms in Washington, it is an indication that he doesn't expect a vindication.

There is no hope that a spasm of common sense will strike the Republican members of the New York Legislature.

One hundred astronomers have already put in their claims to be the first to discover the comet, and all the claims are not in yet.

It wouldn't surprise people much if Mr. Sessions would be transferred from the Senate to the penitentiary. He seems to have been working for that kind of a promotion.

The Milwaukee Sentinel claims to be a Republican newspaper, but it would be refreshing in mid-summer to hear it say one word complimentary to the present administration.

The President has made a hit in the matter of removing Collector Smith, of Bangor, Maine, to make a place for ex-Governor Davis. It would be credit to the administration if the "resident" should let Mr. Smith alone, until the Maine Senators that he is ruining the administration.

Emory A. Storrs, of Chicago, one of the most brilliant orators in the West, did not sustain his reputation as an orator when he addressed the Archon Union of Beloit College. The Free Press says it was a disappointment to the audience. The most brilliant speakers will sometimes make lamentable failures.

It appears that the Waukesha woolen mills were sold under a voluntary assignment by the assignees, and not by the sheriff. The sale was a quiet one—a little too quiet probably in the benefit of the creditors—and under the hammer it is said, it would have brought $40,000 instead of $28,000 received by the assignees.

There is a quarrel going on in New York as to which faction are true Republicans. Inasmuch as both factions are opposed to a compromise and a bent on simply a display of endurance and bull-headedness, it is hard to tell the difference between the two. Neither one has shown very much true Republicanism since the light began.

Now that Judge Robinson is no longer a member of the New York Senate, it is hoped he will direct his attention to the management of the custom house, and let others manipulate things at Albany. He can not take a hand in the tariff fight without doing a very wise thing. He should set a better example than Vice President Arthur.

President Stearns, of the Whitewater normal school, who will deliver the address in Janesville on the Fourth, is one of the best speakers in the State. One of the most prominent men in the city, when he heard that President Stearns would deliver the address, said, "I know of no man who is more capable of delivering a really good Fourth of July address than Mr. Stearns."

The business of trading for gale money is becoming disreputable as well as notorious. An Englishman has commenced the task of sailing 6,000 quarter miles in 6,000 consecutive ten minutes, in an open lot. It would be a good thing if the weather would interfere with the programme, it put an end to the foolishness. Fastid and ending for the sake of notoriety, is cheap business.

Astronomers are still engaged in taking observations of the comet. Professor Boss, of the Lyle Observatory, at Albany, says the comet is nearest the earth on the 18th of June. It is now 34,000,000 miles from the earth and is increasing its distance at the rate of a million miles a day. It will be seen in the northern heavens for three weeks yet, and much longer by telescope. It is estimated that the brightest part of the tail is 14,000 miles and the longest branch 35,000,000.

It is a disgusting and almost incredible condition of affairs which permit a building to stand in Philadelphia where rats are so powerful and numerous as to make way with children, and yet on Thursday morning of last week a child of Mr. Fritz was gnawed to death in one of the hovels which disgrace the city of "Brotherly Love." In that locality the rats are savagely enough to make an attack on grown people who inhabit the hovels, and in that particular building it has become dangerous for them to sleep without leaving some one of the company to watch. The authorities refuse to do anything at the premises, and poisons do not prove effective.

The Republicans of Iowa have nominated a strong ticket and have adopted a good platform. The nominations for State officers were as follows:

Governor—Buren R. Sherman.
Lieutenant Governor—O. H. Manning.
Superintendent Public Instruction—J. W. Aiken.

Supreme Judge—Artin Adams.
The platform endorses the administration of President Garfield, but says nothing about the New York Legislature. The candidate for Governor is cousin of General and John Sherman, and not a brother, as some of the Washington dispatches have it. He is a very popular man with all classes and will be elected by the usual majority of from 50,000 to 70,000.

There is something pitiable in the condition of Mr. M. C. Patton, who was given the position of secretary of the State board of control when the board was organized on the 6th of June. It was known when the board elected him that he sometimes made a too free use of liquor, and a pledge was secured from him that he would abstain from the use of intoxicating drinks during his term of office. Notwithstanding this, the temptation to drink was stronger than he seemed to be able to bear, and the pledge was broken. The board then relieved him, and a Mr. Comley, was elected to fill his place. Mr. Patton is an excellent book-keeper, in fact is an expert, and his friends and everybody else will regret that his appetite for liquor could not be controlled.

Every lover of astronomical science, and every well-wisher of Beloit College, will be glad to learn that the college will soon have an observatory. The ground has been broken for the building. It will be called "Smith Observatory," and the name is a guarantee that it will be a good one. The land was given to the college by Mrs. J. S. Herrick, of Ironton, in this State, and the observatory will bear the name of her brother, John F. Smith, who died some time ago. The ceremony of breaking the ground took place on Wednesday, where a large number of persons had assembled. The foundation will be laid at once and as early as practicable the observatory will be completed and equipped with a powerful telescope 18 feet long, which will be only two feet shorter than the one at the Washburn Observatory, at Madison. The estimated cost of the telescope, and that of the building, has not been given.

In the declining years of his life, John G. Saxo, America's greatest humorist, is having more sorrows laid upon him than usually fall to the lot of man. It has not been long since his wife died. That sad event bore heavily upon his mind, and from that hour dates the decline of his reason. Six weeks ago his daughter died in Brooklyn, and the blow came with a terribly crushing force. It broke up his home and plunged him into indescribable melancholy. Unable to care for himself he was taken to his son John, who lived in Albany, and it was decided that there, the poet should spend the remainder of his days. Last week Mr. Saxo was taken to the home of his son John, where it was hoped he would regain his health and the cloud of melancholy which overhung his mind would be dispelled. But the ruthless hand of death again brought sorrow to the home of Saxo, and on Thursday, of this week, the son was taken away. Plunged deeper than ever into melancholy, it is hardly possible that John G. Saxo will ever regain his natural state of mind. It is a sad ending of an eventful and a useful life.

IS IT PENNY WISE OR POUND FOOLISH?

When Postmaster General James took possession of the postoffice department he began to clean out the thieves who had for a long time infested that branch of the government. When he opened up the frauds in his department and had commenced a thorough investigation of the system of robbery inaugurated under the administration of General Brady, and stimulated by ex-Senator Dorsey, he also began the work of cutting down the mail service in places where the star routes did not seem to be of any special service to the people on the routes, and where the government was not justified in going to an enormous expense in keeping up a line of mails simply for the benefit of mail contractors. Mr. James could not see either wisdom or economy in continuing a mail route in Wyoming Territory, where one letter and a circular were kept running back and forth from one end of the route to the other for weeks at a cost of $13,000 a year. He could not see the policy, except to benefit contractors, to continue a route in New Mexico, on which it cost the government $750 for every letter carried over the route. On one of the routes on the Mississippi, carried on a steamboat, it cost the postoffice department nearly $150 a letter to maintain the service.

With these facts confronting Mr. James he soon learned what his duty was, and was not slow in doing it. But there is a very raised that he is going too far in cutting off the mail routes which do not pay, and in this way it is claimed he is a penny wise and pound foolish. It is feared that there will be a reaction, and that public sentiment in the Territories will compel Congress to move against the policy of Mr. James, the mail service discontinued, and the frauds reinstated. Whether there is any foundation for these fears is not definitely known, but complaints have already been made and are on the increase, and inasmuch as they are made it behooves Mr. James to move with extreme caution in the matter of cutting off star mail routes.

Some times a man of Mr. James' temperament, ambition, and hatred of shams and frauds, will become ever zealous in his work of reform. The rounds of applause which the country gave him when he opened on the star route thieves, spurred him to go still further, and it may be possible that in the hour of brilliant success and a strong public sentiment in his favor, he was led to do more than wisdom would dictate. For the time being, at any rate, it would seem best to deal with the frauds first, and then when this excitement is over and there is time for a calm consideration of the question, to examine into the propriety of cutting off the star mail service in certain parts of the country.

MOSCOW BURNING.

New York, June 30.—The Herald's Paris special says: A sensational telegram to the Transatlantic this morning announces that the Kremlin is in flames. Fire is said to have broken out in three places simultaneously, and the barracks are already destroyed. Rehearsal's paper adds that placards announcing the destruction of the whole of Moscow had been posted on the walls of the city for several days past. The Russian authorities are said to be trying to hush up the news of the disaster.

AN IMPROBABLE STORY.

A Bit of Choice Scandal Started by the Half-Broods at Albany.

New York, July 1.—The Sun's Albany special says: "With the strutting of interest in the political contest, the members have fallen back on personal scandal. This morning prominent half-breeds glibly related the particulars of an alleged episode last night on the part of a prominent senatorial candidate (not Roscoe Conkling), involving family honor. The Statewatts assert the allegation arises from a concerted plot to smear the character of one of their number. Their assertions are grounded on the fact that the alleged eye-witnesses are all half-breeds. The half-breed report of the escapade spread through the city like wildfire. It has given rise to much indignation. Prominent half-breeds themselves consider it untrue, and there is no pretense there will be a judicial investigation. True or false, the whole accusation is a creation from the almost wholesale employment of detectives. Plunkerton's men are here in force. They appear to be in the pay of both factions. Senators and Assemblymen complain of being dogged nightly through the halls of hotels and hang about the capital in various disguises. Two were recognized by a Northern State Senator as having been employed in a murder trial in his county. Four were spotted in one day at last Kenmore. Certain it is their employment has embittered the feeling between the factions until the possibility of an agreement has apparently been precluded. The joint convention lost all its dignity in voting for a successor to Senator Platt. Senator Baker was the score or more of half-breeds received the announcement with derision. The votes of Senators Brannan, Edman, and Strahan were also jeered.

ALBANY, June 30.—The political circles are excited over a reported scandal said to have occurred at the Delavan house last night, involving a leading politician and an unknown woman. The chief talk to-night is about the scandal. No one appears to deny the story, though some express contempt and disgust at it, thus indicating their disbelief in it. The reported principal in the affair said to-night if he had seen anyone peeping into his room over the transom he would have blown him out of the door.

There is no talk about adjournment to-night. All seem determined to remain at least another week. No election is looked for within that time.

The bribery investigation committee have taken no action yet on their report. There seems to be a disposition to let the matter rest, inasmuch as it is now in the courts. The parties indicted to-day evince no trepidation. They say they have done nothing whatever in violation of law, that they have neither offered nor paid money to any one in connection with the senatorial question. The half-breeds are signing quite freely a call for a caucus, started by the featherheads. It is said there are now nearly fifty signatures. It needs sixty-five signatures. The Statewatts, it is said, will have no part in the call. The terms of the call are that, in case the caucus is held, it shall require 51 votes to nominate.

GARFIELD STOPS TO THINK.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The removal of General Smith, collector of customs at Bangor, Me., and the appointment of Governor Davis, has been ordered at the instance of Senator Eugene Hale, of Maine, but to-day the commission has been withheld until further inquiry can be made. It is learned that the reason for withholding the commission is on account of the opposition that has been manifested to the change in the New England press, because General Smith is an efficient officer who has filled out only half his term, and because the appointment of Davis is sought only for political causes. Senator Hale, who was here to urge the appointment of his favorite, left, thinking the matter was settled, after he learned that the order was made to issue the commission.

SHERMAN SERENADED.

DES MOINES, June 30.—A large crowd of citizens, irrespective of party, this evening, headed by a band of music, tendered Buren H. Sherman, candidate for Governor, a complimentary serenade. He briefly returned thanks for the flattering demonstration, when Judge Geo. G. Wright briefly but eloquently endorsed the choice of the convention yesterday, saying that a man who has the affection of his own neighbors can be treated well anywhere. The demonstration was entirely impromptu.

APPLETON UNIVERSITY.

APPLETON, June 30.—The commencement exercises of Lawrence University have been held during the past week, closing to-day with the usual exercises of the graduating class. This class is the largest ever sent out by Lawrence University. Many visitors have been in attendance, among them being Dr. G. W. Steele, former President of the university. Under the management of Dr. Huntley, the present President, the institution is in a fairly prosperous condition.

No Hospital Needed.

No palatial hospital needed for Hop Bitters patients, nor large salaries talented purifiers to tell what Hop Bitters will do or cure, as they tell their own story by their certain and absolute cures at home.

STOLEN JEWELRY.

MILWAUKEE, June 30.—Early this morning Detective Janssen arrested a young man, who gave his name as George Wagner, on suspicion that a mixed lot of new and second-hand watches and jewelry he was offering for sale was stolen in Chicago. The prisoner confessed that he had just come from that city, and that he had stopped from the train in Bay View, several miles below this city. The watches and jewelry seem to be such as may be found on the repair rack of any watchmaker. Wagner had among his effects a receipted bill from Photographer Beals, in Minneapolis, in which the patron figures as Frank Becher. The fact of the arrest has been communicated to Superintendent McGarrigle, of Chicago.

FOREPAUGH FINED.

BLACK RIVER FALLS, June 30.—Three days morning last, Adam Forepaugh, the showman, had some difficulty with a man named F. W. Blood, a soap peddler, who has been travelling along with the circus. The quarrel took place in the office of Freeman house, where both parties were stopping. Forepaugh commenced the fuss by accusing Blood of being a thief and swindler, and threatening to kill him if he saw him at Eau Claire. While quarrelling Forepaugh shook and cuttled him some, but was prevented from doing further injury by the interference of other men. Under Sheriff Ormsby, who was present, a number of persons, and created some excitement, but was nearly forgotten. This morning Blood appeared before Justice Batcheller, and swore out a warrant charging Forepaugh with beating and bruising him. The warrant was placed in the hands of Sheriff Allen, who went to Menomonee on the early train this morning, and returned, this evening with the prisoner. Blood claims he has been paying Forepaugh $50 a week for the privilege of traveling with him, and that Forepaugh was mad because he would not pay $100 per week. Forepaugh was brought before Justice Batcheller, this morning. He pleaded guilty to the charge, and paid a fine of $10 and costs, amounting to $24.65.

A Safe and Sure.

Means of restoring the youthful color of the hair is furnished by Parker's Hair Balm, which is deservedly popular from its superior cleanliness.

CONSOLIDATION.

MADISON, June 30.—By the terms of consolidation entered between the Western Union and the Northwestern telegraph companies, the latter ceases to exist to-morrow. C. H. Haskins, the retiring superintendent, transmitted to all the employees this afternoon a telegraphic acknowledgment of their fidelity to duty and the pleasant relation maintained through so many years.

THE WORK OF FLAMES.

Eau Claire, June 30.—The Cadott Lumber Company's saw mill was discovered to be on fire at about 4 o'clock this morning, and soon after the whole building was in flames and wholly destroyed with the machinery. The mill was owned by parties at Eau Claire. The loss is estimated at between $1,000 $5,000. Insurance unknown. The fire originated in the engine room. Forty men are thrown out of employment.

St. Paul, June 30.—Fire this evening destroyed the paper mill of Russell, Avall & Carpenter, at Minneapolis, entailing a loss estimated at $100,000. The fire is said to have originated by the upsetting of a coal oil lamp, in the basement near a barrel of grease. There was about $25,000 insurance.

With these facts confronting Mr. James he soon learned what his duty was, and was not slow in doing it. But there is a cry raised that he is going too far in cutting off the mail routes which do not pay, and in this way it is claimed he is a penny wise and pound foolish. It is feared that there will be a reaction, and that public sentiment in the Territories will compel Congress to move against the policy of Mr. James, the mail service discontinued, and the frauds reinstated. Whether there is any foundation for these fears is not definitely known, but complaints have already been made and are on the increase, and inasmuch as they are made it behooves Mr. James to move with extreme caution in the matter of cutting off star mail routes.

Sometimes a man of Mr. James' temperament, ambition, and hatred of shams and frauds, will become ever zealous in his work of reform. The rounds of applause which the country gave him when he opened on the star route thieves spurred him to go still farther, and it may be possible that in the hour of brilliant success and a strong public sentiment in his favor, he was led to do more than wisdom would dictate. For the time being, at any rate, it would seem best to deal with the frauds first, and then when this excitement is over and there is time for a calm consideration of the question, to examine into the propriety of cutting off the star mail service in certain parts of the country.

MOSCOW BURNING.

New York, June 30.—The Herald's Paris special says: A sensational telegram to the Transatlantic in flames. Fire is said to have broken out in three places simultaneously, and the barracks are already destroyed. Rochester's paper adds that placards announcing the destruction of the whole of Moscow had been posted on the walls of the city for several days past. The Russian authorities are said to be trying to hush up the news of the disaster.

AN IMPROBABLE STORY.

A Bit of Choice Scandal Started by the Albany Senatorial Contest.

New York, July 1.—The Sun's Albany special says: "With the stunting of interest in the political contest, the members have fallen back on personal scandal. This morning prominent half-breeds glibly related the particulars of an alleged episode last night on the part of a prominent senatorial candidate (not Roscoe Conkling), involving family honor. The Stalwarts assert the allegation arises from a concerted plot to smear the character of one of their number. Their assertions are grounded on the fact that the alleged eye-witnesses are all half-breeds. The half-breed report of the escapade spread through the city like wildfire. It has given rise to much indignation. Prominent half-breeds themselves consider it untrue, and there is no pretense there will be a judicial investigation. True or false, the whole accusation has arisen from the almost wholesale employment of detectives. Prinkerton's men are here in force. They appear to be in the pay of both factions. Senators and Assemblymen complain of being dogged night to their apartments. Detectives fly through the halls of hotels and hang about the capital in various disguises. Two were recognized by a Northern State Senator as having been employed in a murder trial in his country. Four were spotted in one day at the Kenmore. Certain it is their employment has embittered the feeling between the factions until the possibility of an agreement has apparently been precluded. The joint convention lost all its dignity in voting for a senator to Senator Platt. Senator Baker was the first to record his vote. Skinner and a score or more of half-breeds received the announcement with derision. The votes of Senators Braman, Edman, and Strahan were also jeered.

ALBANY, June 30.—The political circles are excited over a reported scandal said to have occurred at the Delavan house last night, involving a leading politician and an unknown woman. The chief talk to-night is about the scandal. No one appears to deny the story, though some express contempt and disgust at it, thus indicating their disbelief in it. The reported principal in the affair said to-night if he had seen anyone peeping into his room over the transom he would have blown his head off.

There is no talk about adjournment to-night. All seem determined to remain at least another week. No election is looked for within that time.

The bribery investigation committee have taken no action yet on their report. There seems to be a disposition to let the matter rest, inasmuch as it is now in the courts. The parties indicted to-day evince no trepidation. They say they have done nothing whatever in violation of law, that they have neither offered nor paid money to any one in connection with the senatorial question. The half-breeds are signing quite freely a call for a caucus, started by the featherheads.

It is said there are now nearly fifty signatures. It needs sixty-five signatures. The Stalwarts, it is said, will have no part in the call. The terms of the call are that, in case the caucus is held, it shall require 51 votes to nominate.

GARFIELD STOPS TO THINK.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The removal of General Smith, collector of customs at Bangor, Me., and the appointment of Governor Davis, has been ordered at the instance of Senator Eugene Hale, of Maine, but to-day the commission has been withheld until further inquiry can be made. It is learned that the reason for withholding the commission is on account of the opposition that has been manifested to the change in the New England press, because General Smith is an efficient officer who has filled out only half his term, and because the appointment of Davis is sought only for political causes. Senator Hale, who was here to urge the appointment of his favorite, left, thinking the matter was settled, after he learned that the order was made to issue the commission.

SHERMAN SERENADED.

DES MOINES, June 30.—A large crowd of citizens, irrespective of party, this evening, headed by a band of music, tendered Buren R. Sherman, candidate for Governor, a complimentary serenade. He briefly returned thanks for the flattering demonstration, when Judge Geo. G. Wright briefly and eloquently endorsed the choice of the convention yesterday, saying that a man who has the affection of his own neighbors can be treated well anywhere. The demonstration was entirely impromptu.

APPLETON UNIVERSITY.

APPLETON, June 30.—The commencement exercises of Lawrence University have been held during the past week, closing to-day with the usual exercises of the graduating class. This class is the largest ever sent out by Lawrence University. Many visitors have been in attendance, among them being Dr. G. W. Steele, former President of the university. Under the management of Dr. Huntley, the present President, the institution is in a fairly prosperous condition.

No Hospital Needed.

No palatial hospital needed for Hop Bitters patients, nor large salaried attendants to tell what Hop Bitters will do or cure, as they tell their own story by their certain and absolute cures at home.

STOLEN JEWELRY.

MILWAUKEE, June 30.—Early this morning Detective Janssen arrested a young man, who gave his name as George Wagner, on suspicion that a mixed lot of new and second-hand watches and jewelry he was offering for sale was stolen in Chicago. The prisoner confessed that he had just come from that city, and that he had stepped from the train in Bay View, several miles below this city. The watches and jewelry seem to be such as may be found on the repair rack of any watchmaker. Wagner had among his effects a receipted bill from Photographer Beals, in Minneapolis, in which the patron figures as "Frank Beecher." The fact of the arrest has been communicated to Superintendent McGarrigle, of Chicago.

FOREPAUGH FINED.

BLACK RIVER FALLS, June 30.—Tuesday morning last, Adam Forepaugh, the showman, had some difficulty with a man named F. W. Blood, a soap peddler, who has been travelling along with the circus. The quarrel took place in the office of Freeman house, where both parties were stopping. Forepaugh commenced the fuss by accusing Blood of being a thief and swindler, and threatening to kill him if he saw him at Eau Claire. While quarrelling Forepaugh shook and cuffed him some, but was prevented from doing further injury by the interference of Under Sheriff Ormsby, who was present. The quarrel was witnessed by quite a number of persons, and created some excitement, but was nearly forgotten. This morning Blood appeared before Justice Batchelor, and swore out a warrant charging Forepaugh with beating and bruising him. The warrant was placed in the hands of Sheriff Allen, who went to Menominee on the early train this morning, and returned this evening with the prisoner. Blood claims he has been paying Forepaugh $50 a week for the privilege of travelling with him, and that Forepaugh was mad because he would not pay $100 per week. Forepaugh was brought before Justice Batchelor, this evening. He pleaded guilty to the charge, and paid a fine of $10 and costs, amounting to $24.65.

CONSOLIDATION.

MADISON, June 30.—By the terms of consolidation entered between the Western Union and the Northwestern telegraph companies, the latter ceases to exist to-morrow. C. H. Haskins, the retiring superintendent, transmitted to all the employees this afternoon a telegraphic acknowledgment of their fidelity to duty and the pleasant relation maintained through so many years.

THE WORK OF FLAMES.

Eau Claire, June 30.—The Cadott Lumber Company's saw mill was discovered to be on fire at about 4 o'clock this morning, and soon after the whole building was in flames and wholly destroyed by the machinery. The mill was owned by parties at Eau Claire. The loss is estimated at between $4,000 and $5,000. Insurance unknown. The fire originated in the engine room. Forty men are thrown out of employment.

St. Paul, June 30.—Fire this evening destroyed the paper mill of Russell, Averill & Carpenter, at Minneapolis, entailing a loss estimated at $40,000. The fire is said to have originated by the upsetting of a coal oil lamp, in the basement near a barrel of grease. There was about $25,000 insurance.

—Postoffice Inspector J. D. King is now in the far west, visiting Salt Lake City and other points of interest. He does not expect to be through this western service so as to reach home before the middle of August.

HOW IT TAKES.

The Praise Won by the Burr Robbins and Colvin Show in Detroit.

Janeville folk watch so eagerly the progress and prosperity of the above named show that, to gratify their legitimate curiosity as to how people in other places are pleased with this season's attractions, we give the following portion of an extensive notice given by the Detroit Free Press of recent date:

In the tent devoted exclusively to the menagerie division of this enterprise are so many rare attractions and interesting studies that one finds considerable difficulty in selecting a starting point of description. However, it is a liberal fact that the first object generally seen is the giant horse, a Finnish animal and a most extraordinary freak of nature, being 21½ hands high, weighing 2,500 pounds, and only five years old. Statistics on paper convey little or no idea of the enormous size of this animal, but when a six foot man tries to "chin" him human insignificance becomes strikingly apparent. Size is not confined to this single feature of the menagerie by a good deal. For example, it contains what is confidently believed to be the largest hippopotamus ever seen in the United States, and as ugly and monstrous as he is behemoth-like. Mr. Robbins shows documents to prove that this engaging creature cost him on the other side upwards of $11,000. In the order of observation come a beautiful grapple, a bird of delicate and striking nature, occupying a padded cage, "a test of the winds of heaven" and a herd of trained bulls, elephants, camels, a cap antelope (the only one of the species ever seen in civilized countries) the Porcupine, Asiatic and American, and a black and white and dangerous Royal Bengal tiger, yaks, zebras, zebras, zebras, the most comical of all comical monkeys, cockatoos, macaws, a sea lion who dines off of the largest sized white fish bones, tail and all, and a long procession of other curiosities of a nature which interest and delight the spectator.

The circus proper is truly one of the neatest and cleanest diversions of its kind ever offered for the surfages of Detroit audiences. It is worthy of special observation that the proprietors actually give their patrons more in the way of a circus than they advertise to give. This is carrying conscientiousness into a field of operations where it has not hitherto resided long enough to become very well acquainted.

The attractions on which the proprietors most plume themselves are headed by Charles Fisk, who is considered an impartial judge to be the most original, daring and skillful bareback rider the sawdust has known in our generation, if not in the entire history of the circus. His performances on Saturday were marvelous, which no person who saw them can doubt are unequalled. Two clowns provide a good fund for their peculiar mirth without resorting to offensive double meanings or coarseness of any kind, and Madame Arthur in her equestrian act, entitled the Menage, gives a beautiful exhibition of grace and courage in the management of horses. Her husband riding is magnificent. Ellen Cook also does an exceedingly pretty and modest pad act, and Howard Dorr and his little son execute with surprising rapidity some of the most difficult and gymnastic feats. At times the ring is full of agile and seemingly boneless tumblers and contortionists, whose performances are kaleidoscopic, while trapezists, equilibrists, leapers and many other specialists contribute to the animation and variety of the ring performance.

Too much cannot be said in praise of the managers for the rigid discipline which is apparent in every department of the show, and the chief result of which is the abolition of everything that the least scrupulous might call objectionable.

"OLD MAN OF THE MOUNTAINS."

Dr. Atkinson, the brother of Mrs. Judge Conger, whose arrival was noticed in the Gazette yesterday, is the subject of the following sketch in the Black Hills Daily Pioneer, and his old friends here will read it with interest:

The name of "Dr. Atkinson" is a household word in every pioneer mountaineer's cabin from the eastern base of the Rocky mountains, through the Sierras and to the shores of the Pacific. He is a printer, editor, soldier in the Mexican war, physician, traveler, gold hunter, adventurer, scout and misadventurer—a man who had experience enough and of a sufficiently romantic nature to fill a hundred volumes by Ned Buntline and (to use the language of the Denver Tribune) "who has done sufficient exploring to make a dozen Fremonts, Pikes and Humboldts." A man over sixty years of age, he is literally clothed in snow white locks and flowing beard. It would do Joe Jefferson's heart good to see him, for if ever Joe Jefferson's make-up for Kip Van Winkle appeared on any street, it appeared on ours yesterday in the person of this "old man of the mountains"—Dr. Monroe Atkinson. He is undoubtedly one of the oldest mountaineers now living. The names of Jim Bridger, old Dick Lawson, Major John Owens, Culbertson, Lie-Burge, and those old heroes, are to him the names of his early friends. Early in 1849, supplied with pack animals, Dr. Atkinson started for California, where he wandered his way, and was on the coast at the very inception of the gold excitement. He accumulated a fortune there, and then with spirit ever restless, he traversed the British Possessions and far into Mexico. During a continuous life of thirty years in the mountains, the Doctor crossed the main range of the Rockies no less than eighty-one times. He knows every mountain trail in the west. He was through the Black Hills nineteen years ago with Reynolds' exploration. He was in the discovery party who struck gold on Gold Creek (first discovery) Montana. He was a physician in the 9th United States Infantry, in 1852, met General Grant in Oregon in '54, and, in a word—he is an old pioneer. The old man is over sixty, but is hale and hearty, and bids fair to live to a century's age. May his "dun gold of life" be sprinkled only with joys.

A Baptist Minister's Experience.

I am a Baptist minister, and before I even thought of being a clergyman, I graduated in medicine, but left a lucrative practice for my present profession, 40 years ago. I was for many years a sufferer from quinsy: "THOMAS ELECTRIC OIL cured me." I was also troubled with hoarseness, and Thomas Electric Oil always relieved me. My wife and child had diphtheria, and "Thomas Electric Oil cured them," and if taken in time it will cure seven times out of ten. I am confident it is a cure for the most obstinate cold or cough, and if any one will take a small teaspoon and half fill it with Oil, and then place the end of the spoon into the head by snuffing as hard as they can, until the Oil falls over into the throat, and practice that twice a week, I don't care how offensive their head may be, it will clean it out and cure their catarrh. For deafness and earache it has done wonders to my certain knowledge. It is the only medicine dubbed patent medicine that I have ever felt like recommending, and I am very anxious to see it in every place, for I tell you that I would not be without it in my house for any consideration. I am now suffering with a pain like rheumatism in my right limb, and nothing relieves me like "Thomas Electric Oil."

Down-East Dinners.

Whoever has penetrated far into the New England country must have observed that in their habits of feeding and in what they feed upon the people there differ widely from those of New York and the West. The difference is noticeable from the moment you cross the frontier. Upon the tables of the hotels in New Haven and Hartford you find dishes that no New York hotel cook would consent to prepare, except on the dismission. Throughout New England the six o'clock dinner is accounted a solecism, a "high-toned" New York dinner, not to be imitated or encouraged.

At noon, everybody takes the principal meal of the day, and if some feebly systems break down under the double strain of work and digestion under the strain of the afternoon, the failure is attributed to the local custom of "having the vittles all on the table." It is followed, except as to meats and vegetables.

Think of peaches a la Conde, and then examine the piece of roast beef on your plate. It is long and narrow, brown and dry. It soaks up the gravy like one of those miserably "broken clods" on Vermont hillsides. It is probably from the vicinity of the "chuck rib." The finer and really edible parts have been boiled for soup. Meanwhile the white-aproned girl has surrounded your plate with a picket line of relishes.

There are pickles, tomato catsup, walnut catsup, perhaps other and further condiments, never by any chance an olive,

but always and everywhere the inevitable

Asafetida sauce. Where good roast meats are known only coarse things, but if you are in a New England country, hotel you may use them freely and without stint. If by any chance there is lettuce on the table for this happens rarely—and you manifest a desire to eat of it, the waiter puts before you the vinegar cruet and the large bowl. If you want to make a fool of yourself call for salad oil. It will take some time to explain your meaning, and when you have done so the attendant will sneeringly inform her companions that "that fellow eats grease on his lettuce."

At this point you plunge into the domain of sweets and pastry. The pudding is sage or tapioca—sometimes a hidden mixture known as bread pudding. But pudding is not enough; you must take a piece of pie; any one of five or six varieties. The yellow, fat chicken of the country is the natural accompaniment of the pie. You will be fortunate if you get a cup of black coffee. Call for wine or beer and you are looked upon as a shameless and dis-sonable man. You may be perfectly well aware that your gastric resources are unequal to the heavy task, but there is no help to be had. Philosophy is again favorable for a speculative inquiry why in New England the church, the school and the town meeting have not driven out the pie, the doughnut and the frying-man. —N. Y. Times.

General-Purpose Horses.

Everybody, aside from the farmer, who buys a horse, buys him for some special purpose. One man buys for the street car, another for driving on the trot, a third for pleasure with the family, and another for the heavy express work. The horse is a creature of the North; while another wants a carriage horse. Each of these purchasers selects with a special reference to the adaptation of the horse to the use to which he is to be put. None of them want a general-purpose horse, or horse of all work.

The horse is always selected for a purpose; and in proportion as he is adapted to that particular purpose, he is considered desirable by the purchaser, and the price is governed by this consideration alone. The only one who uses the same horse for a great variety of purposes is the farmer, and even here the range is very great. Those who are in easy circumstances keep a single horse, or a pair of horses, or a drove of horses, and while their other horses are selected with special reference to their usefulness for the purposes of the farm. But the great mass of farmers, who are not able to keep more than one or two teams, regard horses combining to as quintessence of the horse, and with those of the draft horse. Such a horse as this would not be likely to be awarded the highest prize in a ring composed of first-class draft horses, neither would he be winner in a good roadster class.

Of horses to which our correspondent, no doubt, alludes would be, not the "horse of all work," or a "farmer's horse,"

but the "agricultural horse," because it is mainly by the farmer and for the purposes of agriculture that such horses are used. The horse best adapted to this use is one weighing from twelve to fifteen and a half to sixteen hands high, compact, vigorous, hardy, active, docile, and then the more of fine form and style, allied to good action, we have, the better. Such horses as these are well adapted for use in cities for rapid transport, and are much sought after for use in omnibuses and express wagons, and always meet a ready sale everywhere, because such horses are really better adapted for a variety of uses than any other; and in this sense a horse of this
